

Prof. Martin Block

Martin Block is a Professor in the Department of Kinesiology at the University of Virginia, USA.

He is well known for his research on inclusion of children with disabilities in general physical education. He also has been a consultant with Special Olympics International since 1987, and he is the primary author of Special Olympics Motor Activities Training Program (MATP) for individuals with severe disabilities. Upon the end ISAPA Professor Block will become President of the International Federation of Adapted Physical Activity (IFAPA).